Homecoming Deadline Approaching

Deadlines are rapidly drawing near for entrance in Sacramento State College's 1959 Homecoming activities.

Here are some of the dates to keep in mind while planning your program:

Applications Due

October 23, applications for participation in the Homecoming parade will be available in activities adviser Robert V. Edington's office in 272 Administration building. A tentative outline of the float plans will be due in that office October 30.

This outline will be kept confidential while the parade committee checks to eliminate duplication in theme and appearance.

Submit Queen Photos

Monday, October 26, petitions for Homecoming queen candidates will be available from Edington's office. The petitions and two 8" x 10" portrait photos must be submitted to the contest chairman, Jeff Gustafson, in the Homecoming box in the Student Lounge, or to Edington's office by Friday, October 30, at 2 p.m.

Campaign publicity may be put up beginning November 2. The election of the Queen will be November 6.

World News In Brief

MOSCOW

Soviet scientist Vsevold Fedynsky suggested Sunday in the newspaper Pravda that the moon may be egg-shaped.

He made the observation as Lanik III, after having circled the moon, began picking up speed on its return toward the earth. Sunday it is expected to pass 24,800 miles from the earth.

WASHINGTON

The House Committee on Un-American Activities said yesterday it will conduct hearings in Los Angeles soon but reported it was not yet ready to disclose their aim.

A spokesman said, however, that there will not be a continuation of the committee's inquiry on Communist activity in education.

LONDON

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, told his Cabinet yesterday, after his election triumph that his next goal is an East-West summit meeting without delay.

Government sources said he was shooting for one in late November or early December—the first, in fact, of the "continuous chain of summits" he wants.

WASHINGTON

Russia told the United States yesterday it has made another investigation and can report nothing further on the fate of 11 American airmen lost on a flight over Soviet Armenia.

Soviet Charge d'Affaires Mikhail N. Smirnovsky made the report at a conference with Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy.

Bus Tickets to Grid Game On Sale Through Friday

Tickets for the rooters' buses to Chico State College Saturday are still on sale for $3.50, round-trip, in front of the snack bar and the residence halls. Ten decorated, chartered Greyhound buses will be parked at 1 p.m. adjacent to the residence halls before leaving the campus at 3 p.m. They will leave Chico at 1 a.m. Sunday morning after the CSC Homecoming dance.

All SSC students are invited to attend the dance. Dressing facilities will be available for the rooters to change into their semi-formal attire, suits and cocktail dresses. Admission to this event will be $1, not included in the bus fare.

Members of the Rally Committee, Hornet marching band, majorettes, yell leaders and songsters will accompany the rooters. Al Levy and Don Reetz are co-chairmen of the caravan which is sponsored by Rally Committee.

Presidents' Meet Set For WUS

Initial meeting of the World University Service committee will be held tonight at 6:45 in 106 Library.

Presidents of student organizations will represent their clubs at this meeting.

According to Marilyn Araki, coordinator of world affairs, the nature of the WUS fund raising drive will be explained at this time.

The committee hopes to raise over $1,400 in the drive, which is the amount netted last year.

The ultimate goal of the drive is to raise funds for the alleviation following four basic needs of students in over 40 underdeveloped and underprivileged countries: housing, student health and facilities, books and educational equipment and individual emergency relief.

Rally, Dance Slated

Rally Committee will sponsor a rally and dance to be held on October 23 in preparation for the SSC-Nevada football game on October 24. Game time is 2 p.m. at Hughes Stadium.

Student Teacher Subject of Panel

California Student Teachers association will present a panel on the topic, The People Behind the Student Teacher, Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Sierra room.

Members of the panel include a master teacher, supervising teacher and a student teacher. The problems involved in student teaching and the people to see for help in solving them will be discussed in the course of the program.

Any education major is eligible to join CSTA and may do so by contacting Judie Kenyon, 320 Foley hall, or Pat Wilkinson, 103 Jenkins hall.

Cain Challenges Cultural Exchange at Seminar Today

Whether cultural exchange in fact promotes international understanding will be challenged by Dr. Leonard D. Cain, Jr., at the second meeting of the World Affairs seminar today at 1 p.m. in the Ribera room of the cafeteria. In discussing the Philosophical Implications of Cultural Exchange, Cain, associate professor of sociology, will in part analyze The Ugly American by Eugene Burdick and Walter Lederer.

After his talk, the floor will be open to questions and discussion.

Cain said, "Many Americans assume the naive stand that cultural exchange, in the form of travel abroad, exchange students, exchange visits of heads of states and others, will automatically ease, if not solve, international relations."

DR. LEONARD D. CAIN, JR.

The speaker is currently in the process of publishing a book on sociology of age status. He is also one of six Sacramento State College professors working on a study of government under a $31,750 Ford Foundation grant.

Cain, who has been teaching at SSC since 1952, received his BA and MA degrees from Texas Christian University and his Ph. D. from the University of Texas.

Foundation Picks First Student VP

Dick Philo was elected to serve as vice president of the Hornet Foundation at the first board meeting on October 8.

This is the first time in the history of the foundation that a student has been elected to an office on the board of directors.

Other officers elected were Executive Dean F. Blair Mayne, president, and Business Manager Stanley W. Pretzer, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Lawrence C. Wanless, the new Foundation Manager, was introduced at the meeting along with the remaining members: Merrell W. Skeels, professor of business administration; William M. Thompson, associate professor of business administration; Wally Clark, ASSSC president, and Dick Kaye, ASSSC vice president.

The Hornet Foundation is a nonprofit corporation organized to promote and develop those activities and facilities not normally provided by the college itself. Examples of the foundation's activity are the Hornet book store, cafeteria and snack bar.

Fraternities Still Rushing SSC Males

Sixty-one men last week embarked on a program leading to what many fraternity men consider one of the three most important choices of their lives—their choice of a fraternity.

Between now and October 29, the rushees and the fraternities will size each other up at a series of scheduled coffee parties.

Parties Slated

The first two of these, sponsored by Alpha Pi Delta and Chi Sigma Rho, are already over, having been held last week-end. Friday and Saturday the parties of Omega Chi Delta and Kappa Sigma Phi will occupy center stage. And the following weekend, October 23 and 24, will see Delta Phi Omega and Xi Theta Chi taking over for the windup events.

Preference forms will be made available to rushees October 26 at the activities office, 272 Administration building. These forms provide space for four choices by the rushee. Four choices need not be made, although it is recommended.

Preference Given

Deadline for the return of these forms is 12 noon on October 29. On that day, the presidents of the six fraternities, meeting with the president of the Inter Fraternity

Commager Talks On University, 60's

The University and the Watershed of the 1960's will be the topic of Henry Steele Commager, second convocation speaker, on Friday at 10 a.m. in the gymnasium.

One of the outstanding historians and critics of contemporary society, Commager is presently professor of history and American studies at Amherst College.

International scholar of note, Commager has received particular attention as a result of his 1954-1955 foreign tour as lecturer for the Department of State. During his trip he visited Germany, Israel and Italy.

Presently editor-in-chief for the 40-volume, yet unfinished, study The Rise of the American Nation, his own books include Freedom, Loyalty, and Dissent, winner of a 1954 special Hillman foundation award, Majority Rule and Minority Rights and Living Ideas in America.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"FUNNY, BUT EVERY TIME WE HAVE A 'BULL SESSION' HERE AT WORTHAL'S THE DISCUSSION ALWAYS GETS AROUND TO GIRLS."

Students Display Photos Of Campus in Library

These are the results of the final assignment of the beginning students in photography. All pictures were taken, developed, enlarged and mounted by the students themselves.

Develop Amazing Skill

Nicholas De Lucia, assistant professor of government, and instructor of photography stated, "It's amazing how much the students pick up in one semester. They learn to operate the camera, develop film, and make enlargements; many of the students have gone into jobs with newspapers, Aerojet and various studios after taking the course."

It is hoped that the photography classes will be moved into their new location, the old book store, by next semester. Approximately twice as many students will be accommodated at that time.

Mosk Set For Talk To ACLU

Attorney General Stanley Mosk will speak about the present state of civil liberties in California at a breakfast at the Sacramento Inn Sunday.

Mosk will deliver the major address sponsored by the Sacramento chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union. He will be introduced by Jack Mingo, chairman of the county board of supervisors, according to Jane Cassells Record, local chapter chairman.

Tickets for the breakfast, which will be attended by about 400 people from business, professional, labor, government and academic communities, are still available on campus.

Anyone interested in attending the breakfast with the SSC group can make their reservations by seeing Dr. Harry Aron, assistant professor of psychology, or Philip Isenberg.

Aron said that about 70 people from SSC are expected to attend the affair.

Wesley Discusses Khrushchev Trip

An interview with Nikita Khrushchev and the implications of Khrushchev's recent trip to the United States will be discussed tonight at 6 p.m. following a dinner and business meeting at Wesley hall, 5861 H street.

Discussion will be based on a 10,000-mile trip through the USSR by plane, train, ship, and bus by the Reverend Edward L. Peet, pastor of Central Methodist Church, Sacramento. Mr. Peet will lead the group in discussion and show some 80 slides taken during his tour of Russia.

The unique feature of Mr. Peet's trip was a two hour interview with Khrushchev during which impromptu questions were posed on such subjects as co-existence, the possibilities of peace, and the nature of soviet society.

All persons interested in the program are invited to attend.

Departure Slated For Film Festival

Departure dates for a series of two trips to the San Francisco International Film Festival have been announced as November 14 and 21 at 10 a.m. under the direction of Dr. L. Paul Saettler, assistant professor of education.

Five previously unreleased feature and documentary films, selected from films produced from all over the globe and in competition for the Golden Gate Awards, will be viewed and evaluated. Students will also have an opportunity to personally see the producers and stars of the films shown. A pre-orientation and follow-up meeting will be held on the Saramento State College campus.

Jazz Like . . .

by Norris Clement

Jazz is more popular now than in the recent past, but it still can't compete with rock 'n roll and baseball as a part of American life. Modern jazz started in the early 1940's when it was called be-bop, bop and by other names. It was so wild, however, that almost everyone, including agents and promoters were scared off.

There seems to be a group of people who will accept, more readily than most, any new innovations in jazz as long as it swings. Naturally, this group "dug" modern jazz from the beginning and embraced it as theirs. This group centers around the lower income groups, minority race groups and the "weird" intellectuals.

Free Existence

Because of this group jazz became synonymous with the free type of existence that is presently associated with the Beatniks. Jazz then became a symbol of immorality, drugs, alcohol, etc., and most people were reluctant to associate with jazz except on an occasional slumming tour.

An attitude was formed about jazz which had many consequences. Since jazz was relatively inaccessible not many people even knew what it sounded like. It was rumored that jazz was loud, noisy and offensive to the ears. Also, every jazz musician was "hooked" on a variety of narcotics. These rumors prevailed until the 1950's when jazz started creeping into some "good middle class homes."

College Fans

At this time college students, who are characteristically curious, began listening to jazz. There are many reasons for this: first, more jazz recordings became available because record companies decided that jazz might be profitable; second, jazz concerts appeared in various settings and aroused much interest: third, many people such as Dave Brubeck attained national prominence through jazz; and finally, I feel that jazz became a symbol of a new generation's characteristic rejection of the old way of life.

Now jazz is fast becoming a fad and to be included in "the group" one must like jazz. This attitude, while not a healthy one, may leave some very avid fans in its wake.

Jazz Suffers

Let us hope that those who retain their interest will be strong and numerous enough to keep jazz alive. Jazz suffers, as the other arts do (in economic terms), from a lack of effective demand.

I feel, and there are opposing views, that the economic support of jazz would tend to produce better music by attracting talented musicians who might otherwise be forced to work in some more lucrative field.

Into the Daylight

Also, by increasing its support it may be possible to move jazz further into the "daylight" with more concerts, seminars and possibly into the classrooms of high schools and colleges. By increasing the educational scope of jazz it will be possible to obtain better jazz and a more discriminating listening public.

Jazz still is thriving in the offbeat clubs, but it is also moving into the mass medias of communication: television, radio (listen locally to KSFM, 11 p.m.-2 a.m.), broadway shows (have you heard the sound track of The Nervous Set?), concerts, festivals and who knows what is to come. This is as it should be, I feel, for jazz has something to say and it is not particular where its message is presented.

European Exchange Supported by Ford

First full-scale exchange program with Eastern Europe since World War II will enter its third year under the support of a new $325,000 Ford Foundation grant to the Institute of International Education.

Since the program was started, approximately 75 Polish professors and specialists have been brought to the United States, and 15 have traveled to Poland. Also included in the exchanges have been translations of short stories and novels.

Subtlety Keynotes Tragedy

O'Neill Play Sets Rare Departure

By MARY ANNE TAYLOR

The subtlety of expression found in Sacramento State College's performance of Act III of Long Day's Journey Into Night was a rare departure from the usual broad gestures of the stage.

Director London Green actually managed to use the cramped quarters of the Outdoor Theater to his advantage by creating an atmosphere of intimacy which would have been impossible to achieve on a larger stage. Green showed great perceptiveness in interpreting Eugene O'Neill's semi-autobiographical play.

Convincingly Played

The arduous role of Mary Tyrone, the dope-addicted mother, was played quite convincingly by Pat Dunnigan. Her wide, staring eyes were almost hypnotic in effect. Miss Dunnigan's only weakness is in her limited vocal range. Her tendency to stay at a constant high pitch eliminated some of the contrasting elements of the character. She has improved considerbly in this respect since her performance last year in Angel Street.

Rick Murphy did a marvelous job as the tubercular son, Edmund Tyrone. His pacing was a little rough in spots, but altogether it was a sensitive, moving interpretation. I'm sure he's a welcome addition to the SSC drama department.

Austin Nelson as the actor-father, James Tyrone, and Katie Baker as the maid, Cathleen, gave competent performances.

Schoolishness Absent

The school-play quality which is found in so many of the one-acts in the Little Theater was pleasantly absent. The audience was attentive and interested even throughout the rather long reading of excerpts from St. John Perse's Anabasis.

Although the poem is of such a nature that it is difficult to understand upon the first reading, Wallace Brown's interpretive smiles and frowns helped the audience to know when it was, exactly, they were to be amused or serious.

Verbal Bubble Bath

Dr. Ralph Lowett's melodic reading of the poem in French was sort of a verbal bubble-bath for those of us who were not familiar with the language.

Rev. Bowman To Discuss Ethics Today

Ethics in a Religionless Christianity will be the title of a lecture given by Douglas Bowman, college pastor at Chico State College, tonight at 7:30 at the Westminster club meeting in the Student Lounge.

Bowman's speech will be based on the system of ethics of the German theologian, Detric Bonhoffer, who worked with the German underground during World War II, and believed in contextual ethics, rather than content.

DOUGLAS BOWMAN

Bowman will discuss how Christianity is beginning to realize that religious ethics are not a series of set laws which must be strictly followed regardless of the situation. A question and answer period will follow his talk.

Presently Bowman is working for his Ph.D. degree in theology at the San Francisco Theological Seminary.

Coming up on the Westminster club's calendar will be a talk by Charlie Schulz, creator of Peanuts, on the motives behind the comic strip.

Rushing...

Council and Robert V. Edington, activities advisor, will "claim" approved rushees in accordance with their preferences as set forth on the forms.

Bids will be issued by 3 p.m. that afternoon in the activities office.

Turnout Is Large

According to Ken Steen, president of IFC, the rushing turnout is considerably larger than usual for a fall semester, when so many freshmen are ineligible. He estimates that approximately 85 per cent of the current list is made up of transfer students.

"I think the residence halls have made a considerable contribution to the number of pledges we have this year," Steen confided, "and I think this number will continue to grow."

Scholarships Available

Thursday is the deadline for submitting scholarship applications for women students majoring in social work, laboratory technology, men students majoring in speech correction, psychology or law enforcement, or seniors majoring in civil engineering.

Guys & Dolls Choreography Directed by Carolyn Dills

Carolyn Dills, a new member to the Sacramento State College drama department, has been assigned the demanding job of choreographer for the forthcoming musical comedy, Guys and Dolls. Miss Dills has many achievements in the field of ballet and popular dance. A graduate of La Sierra High School, she has studied dancing since the age of four years.

Dances Ballet

Miss Dills has danced in the Sacramento Ballet Company for the last three years and has danced as a solo performer for conventions, clubs and school functions.

This year she helped with the choreography for the Del Paso Country club show.

Chorus Line Hot

The main dance sequences for Guys and Dolls will consist of the Hot Box dancing chorus performing to such hit songs as A Bushel and a Peck and Take Back Your Mink; the Cuban dance number, where the performers will be costumed in black and white; and the Crap dance ballet which is held in a New York sewer.

Students who will participate as dancers in Guys and Dolls are Ron Anderson, Bill Laird, Sidney Finch, Tom Johnson, Jim Estey, Jim Berry, Philip Wade, Warren Parker, Gino Commotor, Herman George, Sandy Fowler, Frances Obelliere, Pam Akert, Liz Dokimos, Maggie Adair, Dodo Baker, Claudia Lamkin and Arlean Liddle.

Matinee Changed

Guys and Dolls will be held November 9-14 for seven performances at 8:30 p.m. in the Little Theater. There willl be a matinee held Wednesday, November 11, at 2:30 p.m. instead of the one previously announced for November 14.

Guys and Dolls will be directed by Dr. Gerard A. Larson, assistant professor of speech arts, and John M. Lewis, assistant professor of music, will be the musical director. Guys and Dolls is one of the classics of the musical comedy theater and promises to provide theatergoers with entertainment of high quality and enjoyment.

Psych Club Opens Series With Lucas

Psychology club will present a series of lectures and discussions on subjects concerning psychology.

Today at 1 p.m. Dr. James D. Lucas, associate professor of psychology, will talk on the direction of psychology.

The lecture and discussion meetings are open to all interested persons and membership is not required. There will also be less formal meetings in the evening for members only. These meetings will be for discussions and social activities.

Draper Hall 'I' Swamps Block S in Big Upset

By Dick Griffin

Flag football got off to a slow start October 7, as Draper Hall No. 2 forfeited to the Engineers Club. With a turnout of 15, the winners played an intrasquad game and showed a strong running and passing team.

Platos Pups broke a 7-7 tie in the second half and smothered the Wizers 20-7, Thursday. Lewils, Hatton and Burroughs led the Pups' scoring, and Winters scored the lone Wizer tally on a 65 yard pass play.

Omega Chi Wins

Omega Chi Delta started slow but came on to down the Pi Delts 25-12. Pi Delts scored first as Comparato ran and passed the team to six points on a 60 yard drive. Ferrairae tied it up and intercepted a pass to set up the second OCD touchdown.

Xi Theta Chi Downs DPO

Friday Xi Theta Chi downed Delta Phi Omega 14-7 in a close, hard fought game. Xi Theta dominated the first half, scoring early on a pass to Calder good for 40 yards.

Minutes later Pigatti ran for 35 yards and the half time score was 14-0. DPO came back strong to score early in the second half on a tremendous 80 yard end run by Mori.

First Big Upset

The first big reverse of the season came Friday as Draper Hall crushed Block S 32-6. Leading 13-6 at halftime, Draper came on to completely halt any Block S threat. Marks scored four touchdowns and Horton one in the massacre. Kelly was the only bright spot in the Block S offensive, scoring once and making several fine catches.

It now looks as if the Platos Pups and Draper No. 1 are the teams to beat in the strong Independent league.

Games this week: Today, Chi Sigma Rho vs. Xi Theta Chi, Engineers vs. Block S; Wednesday, Delta Phi Omega vs. Pi Delts, Platos Pups vs. Draper Hall No. 1; Thursday, Block S vs. Draper Hall No. 2; Friday, October 16, Omega Chi Delta vs. Delta Phi Omega, Draper Hall No. 1 vs. Wizers.

Bay Area Gators Jaunt to Victory In SSC Tourney

Despite the efforts of Hornets Bill Lane and Gary Noice, Sacramento State College fell to its second straight cross-country defeat Saturday afternoon at the SSC Invitational.

San Francisco State College placed enough men in the finishing bracket to take the third annual event. The Gators held their team score down to 33 points. Humboldt State College squeezed past the Hornets by a single marker, 46-47, for possession of second place.

Lane crossed the line ahead of the pack 16 minutes, 19 seconds after the starter's gun. Jerry Joyner, running unattached from any college, finished second in 16:34. Noice collapsed after wrapping up third in 16:47. A rest brought him around within a few minutes. Humboldt's Crosby finished two seconds behind Noice for fourth.

Sacramento's Jose Ramirez placed 11th in 17:23, Art Williams 22nd in 18:47, and Dan Greenwald 28th in 19:51. Thirty thinclads ran the three mile course.

Sierra Junior College nosed out Bakersfield Junior College by three points, 26-29, to capture the junior college division. Modesto Junior College plodded into third with 82.

U. of Nevada Beats Aggies; Leads League

University of Nevada moved a half game ahead of San Francisco State College in the Far Western Conference football race Saturday when they dumped the Cal Aggies at Reno, 28-6. SFSC was idle, conference-wise.

The Wolfpack scored in each of the final three periods to nab the win. Aggie fumbles setting up two touchdowns and a field goal.

The loss shoved the Davis crew into a three-way tie for the conference cellar with Sacramento State College, who lost to Humboldt State College, and the Wildcats of Chico State College, who were defeated last week by the same Nevada squad.

The Gators of the bay area, scheduled to take on Occidental College, had to settle, instead, for their second game of the year against San Quentin. The Occidental team is recovering from a bout with food poisoning, so the Gators racked up a 35-0 conquest over the SQ boys.

Earlier this season the Gators scored a 20-16 victory over the same team.

Lumberjacks Down Hopeful Hornets by 38-20 Margin

An early lead failed to hold up Saturday night when Humboldt State College downed Sacramento State College in the Hornet Far Western Conference opener, 38-20. In the first quarter, quarterback Gary Musick pitched to end Dick Bach for a 31 yard gain. Fullback Jim Holt then broke loose for 33 yards and three plays later Musick passed to halfback Ernie Dire for the TD.

Lumberjacks Rally

The Lumberjacks then rallied with three tallies. Vester Flanigan scored on a three yard pitch from Fred Whitmire and Dave Littleton crossed the line twice with a one yard plunge and a six yard end sweep.

SSC again scored early in the third period when Lou Barba swept left end for a six yard gain and a score.

The Hornet backbreaker came in the form of a 71 yard kickoff return by Lumberjack Darol Foster for paydirt.

Ed White also scored in the third quarter, and in the fourth Manny Vasquez loped 10 yards for the final Humboldt score.

The Hornets final tally came with minutes remaining when Musick circled left end for six yards. Halfback Tay Moore then ran successfully for the extra two points.

During the game the Lumberjacks gained a total of 211 yards rushing while SSC picked up 144. The passing yardage was almost equal; the Hornets had 149 compared to 156 for Humboldt.

SSC made 15 first downs and Humboldt had 20. The Lumberjacks were penalized 100 yards while the Hornets lost only 44.

TANG! New breakfast drink you can keep in your room!

EARLY ELLEN: I get up so early to study that a glass of TANG tides me over until breakfast. It's delicious—and wakes you up better than a cold shower.

ALWAYS HUNGRY HAL: I'm a before-and-after-meal TANG man. It really fills in where fraternity food leaves off. Buy two jars. Your friends need vitamin C, too!

LAST MINUTE LOUIE: A fast TANG and I can make it through class... 'til I have time for breakfast. Fast? All you have to do is add to cold water and stir.

DEAD BEAT DON: I have to put in a lot of hours on my Lit. But since I have TANG on my bookshelf it really keeps me going even through the longest hours.

NEW! INSTANT!
Just mix with cold water!

MORE VITAMIN C THAN ORANGE JUICE!
